A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,078 families in House District 1.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,809 families in House District 2.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,756 families in House District 3.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,700 families in House District 4.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,251 families in House District 5.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,152 families in House District 6.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,796 families in House District 7.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,301 families in House District 8.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,511 families in House District 9.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,531 families in House District 10.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,373 families in House District 11.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,865 families in House District 13.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,783 families in House District 14.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,294 families in House District 15.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,207 families in House District 16.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,585 families in House District 17.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,623 families in House District 18.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,892 families in House District 19.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,586 families in House District 20.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,520 families in House District 21.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,276 families in House District 22.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,251 families in House District 23.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,988 families in House District 24.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,387 families in House District 25.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,600 families in House District 26.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,617 families in House District 27.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,775 families in House District 28.

A Missouri EITC Would:

☑ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

☑ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

☑ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

☑ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,586 families in House District 29.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG  @MISSOURIBUDGET  /MOBUDGET  314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,038 families in House District 30.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG  @MISSOURIBUDGET  /MOBUDGET  314-833-5111
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,457 families in House District 31.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG  @MISSOURIBUDGET  /MOBUDGET  314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,476 families in House District 32.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,281 families in House District 33.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,690 families in House District 34.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,122 families in House District 35.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,070 families in House District 36.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

< 15%
15 - 19%
20 - 25%
25% or more
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,520 families in House District 37.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,088 families in House District 38.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,580 families in House District 39.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,684 families in House District 40.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,978 families in House District 41.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,741 families in House District 42.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,013 families in House District 43.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,023 families in House District 44.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,621 families in House District 45.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,621 families in House District 45.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,124 families in House District 46.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,702 families in House District 47.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,938 families in House District 48.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,882 families in House District 49.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,303 families in House District 50.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,903 families in House District 51.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,657 families in House District 52.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,692 families in House District 53.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,581 families in House District 54.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,966 families in House District 55.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage</th>
<th>Counties</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,827 families in House District 56.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,982 families in House District 57.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,037 families in House District 58.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,692 families in House District 59.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,787 families in House District 60.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,333 families in House District 61.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,625 families in House District 62.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,368 families in House District 63.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,565 families in House District 64.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG  @MISSOURIBUDGET  /MOBUDGET  314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,289 families in House District 65.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 6,324 families in House District 66.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage</th>
<th>Number of Counties</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,114 families in House District 67.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,206 families in House District 68.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,014 families in House District 69.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,051 families in House District 70.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,406 families in House District 71.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,590 families in House District 72.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage Range</th>
<th>County Color</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
<td>Light Blue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
<td>Light Blue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
<td>Blue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
<td>Dark Blue</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,516 families in House District 73.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,707 families in House District 74.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 6,225 families in House District 75.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,735 families in House District 76.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,596 families in House District 77.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,133 families in House District 78.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,483 families in House District 79.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,450 families in House District 80.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri EITC Would:
✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,070 families in House District 81.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,621 families in House District 82.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri EITC Would:
✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,916 families in House District 83.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,796 families in House District 84.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 5,291 families in House District 85.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,820 families in House District 86.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,205 families in House District 87.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,410 families in House District 88.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 829 families in House District 89.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,084 families in House District 90.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

< 15%
15 - 19%
20 - 25%
25% or more

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,390 families in House District 91.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,378 families in House District 92.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,359 families in House District 93.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,298 families in House District 94.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,568 families in House District 95.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,449 families in House District 96.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,120 families in House District 97.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,620 families in House District 98.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,407 families in House District 99.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 990 families in House District 100.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 767 families in House District 101.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,473 families in House District 102.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,737 families in House District 103.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,604 families in House District 104.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,825 families in House District 105.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,901 families in House District 106.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,023 families in House District 107.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,829 families in House District 108.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,706 families in House District 109.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 1,318 families in House District 110.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,431 families in House District 111.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,471 families in House District 112.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

| % of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017 |
|---------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|
|                | < 15%         | 15 - 19%      | 20 - 25%      | 25% or more   |

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,356 families in House District 113.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,783 families in House District 114.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,912 families in House District 115.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,828 families in House District 116.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,619 families in House District 117.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG  @MISSOURIBUDGET  /MOBUDGET  314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,104 families in House District 118.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,171 families in House District 119.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG  @MISSOURIBUDGET  /MOBUDGET  314-833-5111
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,399 families in House District 120.

A Missouri EITC Would:
- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,790 families in House District 121.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,011 families in House District 122.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,703 families in House District 123.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,233 families in House District 124.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,281 families in House District 125.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,119 families in House District 126.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,245 families in House District 127.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MO BUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,247 families in House District 128.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,735 families in House District 129.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,135 families in House District 130.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>County Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,174 families in House District 131.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,685 families in House District 132.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- ✔️ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- ✔️ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- ✔️ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- ✔️ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

WWW.MOBUDGET.ORG @MISSOURIBUDGET /MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,197 families in House District 133.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,879 families in House District 134.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,188 families in House District 135.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,438 families in House District 136.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,079 families in House District 137.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,057 families in House District 138.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,981 families in House District 139.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,134 families in House District 140.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,414 families in House District 141.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- < 15%
- 15 - 19%
- 20 - 25%
- 25% or more

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,338 families in House District 142.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,608 families in House District 143.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,389 families in House District 144.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,270 families in House District 145.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 2,766 families in House District 146.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,145 families in House District 147.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,495 families in House District 148.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet
% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,805 families in House District 149.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,747 families in House District 150.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,427 families in House District 151.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,139 families in House District 152.

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,037 families in House District 153.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,818 families in House District 154.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

- Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

- Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

- Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

- Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,625 families in House District 155.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 4,242 families in House District 156.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,436 families in House District 157.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>- &lt; 15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>- 15 - 19%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>- 20 - 25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>- 25% or more</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,620 families in House District 158.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.
- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.
- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.
- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,984 families in House District 159.

Federal EITC Helps Missourians Across the State Make Ends Meet

% of Households Receiving Federal EITC Payments, By County, Tax Year 2017

- 15% or more
- 20 - 25%
- 15 - 19%
- < 15%

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.
✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.
✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.
✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.
A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

• The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

• Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

• Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

• A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,717 families in House District 160.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,447 families in House District 161.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.

www.mobudget.org @ MISSOURIBUDGET / MOBUDGET 314-833-5111
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,762 families in House District 162.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.
Bolster the Middle Class with an Earned Income Tax Credit

A state Earned Income Tax Credit would provide a much-needed boost for hardworking families. This bottom-up tax cut builds the middle class, spurs local economic growth, and provides long-term benefits to families and communities.

- The federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) has long provided hardworking families the ability to achieve a better future and a pathway to the middle class. The structure of the EITC encourages people to stay working and to work more hours.

- Though most families receive the EITC only temporarily, it has profound long-term benefits for families and communities.

- Building on the demonstrated success of the federal credit, 29 states and the District of Columbia have created state EITCs that offer a credit towards state and local taxes for low- and moderate-income workers struggling to get by.

- A Missouri EITC would benefit 3,638 families in House District 163.

A Missouri EITC Would:

✓ Provide a bottom-up tax cut for working families.

✓ Help as many as 494,000 Missouri families from across the state pay for basic necessities like child care and car repairs, which are essential to success in work and life.

✓ Boost local economies by putting more money in the pockets of people most likely to spend it at local community businesses.

✓ Improve the lives of Missouri’s children and our future workforce. Children whose families receive the federal EITC have higher test scores, are more likely to go to college, and enjoy greater earnings as adults, establishing a more productive and skilled workforce for Missouri’s future.

A Missouri Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is one of the best ways our state can help working families – and the state of Missouri – achieve a more prosperous future.